

Let's Go | Allison Waken

What is better than making home decor? Interactive home decor! This is a fun piece to make for yourself or to include with a gift card for gas or an outdoor/travel store. You could even make it for a travel album or just slip it in your Project Life for a fun addition.

SUPPLY LIST :

Studio Calico Bottle Toss Add-On - card, stamps, label;
Studio Calico High Striker Add-On - stamp, puffy stickers, alphas; Studio Calico Penny Arcade Project Life Kit - card, doily, transparency; Stazon ink; Honey Bee Scissors; Tiny Attacher

Step 01 : First I pulled out the supplies I knew I needed or wanted to use for the “base” of the card.

Step 02 : Then I stamped the base of the “spinner” onto a card from the Bottle Toss Add-On.

Step 03 : To highlight the spaces I stamped every other space with a light gray chalk ink.

Step 04 : I used black ink to stamp the options in the gray spaces.

05

06

07

08

09

Step 05 : Gold ink was used for the white spaces. You could also just write in options OR include photos!

Step 06 : I stamped and cut out the arrow and used a paper piercer to poke a hole through the arrow, card and larger 4x6 card.

Step 07 : I used a small brad from my stash. Make the brad loose to "spin" the arrow or tighter if you want to move and leave it on a specific space.

Step 08 : Then I pulled a few embellishments from other Penny Arcade kits to finish off the look.

Step 09 : Finally, I mounted all the pieces onto a single 5"x7" sheet of cardstock and placed into an open frame. Make sure not to add any adhesive around the brad so it can move freely.