

You Did It | Chari Moss

Partial stamping and piecing together images are great ways to stretch your stamps. Partial stamping, either by selective inking or masking, allows you to switch up the arrangements of your stamps. It really works great for sentiment stamps. Layering stamped images is also a great way to change up the look of a certain image and create nice dimension on a project.

SUPPLY LIST :

Sandlot Card Kit; ink - Versafine Onyx Black Ink , Versamark Ink, Hero Arts Tide Pool; embossing powder – Zing Red & Silver; sequins – Color Theory Well Red, Orange County, Sunny Day, Something Blue, Emerald City; other – Stardust Stickles & Foam Adhesive

TUTORIA

TECHNIQUE

STUDIOCALICO.COM

PAGE

AUGUST 2014

©2014 Studio Calico

Step 01 : Use the clear stamps themselves as placeholders to figure out the layout and where to trim the paper.

Step 02 : Use a stamp press or lined block to pick up the images by lining up the grid with the paper so it is easy to line up again when stamping.

Step 03 : Use a post it or masking tape to mask of part of the sentiment off. Ink the stamp then remove the mask so that only part of the sentiment will be inked.

Step 04 : Stamp the image in sticky ink and then heat emboss in colored embossing powders.

Step 05 : Cut all the pieces for the Gum ball machine image out and stamp the image on card base.

owesome

Pant ante

100 010 V

whelwable

TECHNIQUE

STUDIOCALICO.COM

PAGE 02

AUGUST 2014

©2014 Studio Calico

Step 07 : Add sequin embellishments to fill the image.

Step 08 : Add glitter or glossy accents to create the glass of the gum ball machine.

Step 09 : Using the same masking technique, stamp the other part of the sentiment on the inside of the card.

TUTORIA

TECHNIQUE

AUGUST 2014